Dr. Horst Filtzer

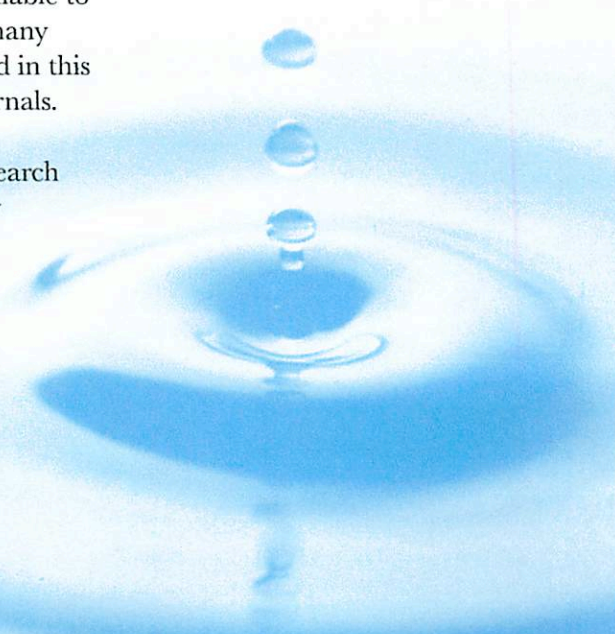

I completed my surgical training at the Boston City Hospital Harvard Surgical Service including a fellowship in Kidney Transplantation. I began my surgical career at the Cambridge City Hospital in 1973 where I was appointed Assistant Director of the Department of Surgery. Through the years I eventually became program director and Department Chairman and maintained a very busy practice of general and vascular surgery. The passion of my life has been the surgical education of young surgeons. Where does Kangen Water™ fit into my story?

It came about by accident. I never was a water drinker so when a patient of mine introduced me to the water it was truly remarkable that I took an instant like to it and bought myself a machine that day. I would like to suggest to all distributors to learn about the competitor's products and claims.

It is easy to diffuse criticism of the cost of the SD501 when one knows the facts of superior construction and expensive but high quality components. There are vicious statements about Kangen Water™ on the internet and knowledge will give you the power to show the truth. Enagic makes the best machine on the planet, and the public needs to know that. Kangen Water™ technology is built on sound scientific principles, and solid evidence of its efficacy is available to you on the internet and for many scientific studies in Japan, and in this country in peer-reviewed journals.

I personally did a literature search on Ionized Water, specifically

Kangen Water™, and a large variety of products that make Ionized Water. I also read about the vicious critiques of what I call the nay-sayers and formulated my own conclusions about the efficacy of Kangen Water™. I call this the three noble truths of Kangen: Alkalinity, Micro-clustering, and Anti-oxidant power.
